

New Beginnings, Thanks To Our Clients

29th February 2024

It's always a joy to receive the highest form of praise one can get from one's clients ie that we've delivered what we've said we'd deliver. Today reminds us of this for two very good reasons.

1) New Beginnings: Thanks to our Clients for what we will be doing

We're pleased to say our Accelerating Experience business has developed well over the last 19 years, including moves into new areas over time as we followed our Clients' requests.

Having built our reputation in our original and new spaces in parallel, that success now takes our two Co-Founders in new directions, led by our customers:

Chris Roberts will be building on his substantial work and offerings in coach development and bringing sport and business experience together. Going forward, he'll be concentrating on a personalised service for individuals and teams in sport organisations as well as people personally struggling / in crisis as he pursues a specialism in counselling.

Mike Taylor will continue providing our Award-winning business performance and leadership support, tailored for senior business leaders and underpinned by Accelerating Experience's history. Today, he is launching his exciting new business venture: Mike Taylor Associates Ltd – see www.MikeTaylor.Ltd

Our contact details from 1st March 2024 will be

Chris Roberts E: chris.roberts@hartyroberts.com M: +44 (0) 7973 348 412

Mike Taylor E: mike@miketaylor.ltd M: +44 (0) 7710 017 473

2) Our history: Thanks to our Clients for what we have done

We're delighted today to be included in the Financial Times' UK's Leading Management Consultants list 2024, the 6th year running.

We feature in the category: People and Performance

The list is formed from Consultants' clients' and peer recommendations. It's great there's a place for specialist boutiques in the Awards; and again we find ourselves in the company of global household name players in this category.

The Award is a very welcome milestone as we make these simultaneous announcements today.

Mike and Chris separate corporately, but not in any sense personally, after nearly 20 years of working closely together. We both want to say Thank You to everyone who's been part of our shared success, particularly our clients who've kindly endorsed the lasting benefits we bring and for helping point us in our future direction.

Turbulent times are affecting many people and organisations, bringing opportunities and threats for both. Personalised support for individual clients and business leaders with sharp focus for each is what we do. A huge benefit for all.
